

I was informed that the Consumer Bankers Association has chosen to challenge Indiana's Telephone Privacy law in a proceeding before the Federal Communications Commission. I suport Indianas law. If i want to talk to these companies, I will call them and let their automated ansewring systems annoy me. I dont feel I should have to pay for a service so others can freely permote their product or service on me. At least when they have to mail it, they pay for the postage. TV ads they pay for, but they think I sould have to let them call me for free. Indiana Attorney General has stood up for us, and hopefully the FCC will stand up for us! These companies are made from the consumers money. We have to work for that money. When we are home it should be our time. Please lets keep it this way!

Thank you for your time,
